Spend Two Million Dollars for Bridge and Rerouting T. H. No. 2 Through Brainerd

SURVEY NOW IN FULL SWING COSTS $40,000

Two Routes Are Being Considered In Survey by the Minnesota Highway Department

Northeast Route Definitely Assured; Concrete Bridge Over Mississippi River

Re-routing of Trunk Highway No. 2 through the city of Brainerd will cost in the neighborhood of two million dollars, Representative A. M. Opsahl announced to the Dispatch this afternoon.

A survey to determine the routing of the highway through the city is now being carried on by crews of the Minnesota Highway department at a cost of $40,000.

The Northeast Brainerd route has been definitely assured. Grading work in the northeast section beyond Lum Park to continue the highway to join the present route one mile north of the Duluth tracks will start this year. The new highway routing will shorten the distance to the range by not less than three miles.

A three way split between the Minnesota Highway Department, the Northern Pacific Railway and the City of Brainerd will be made in meeting the expense of the routing through Brainerd with the highway department standing the heaviest allotment.

The routing of the highway through Brainerd will mean the construction of a concrete bridge over the Mississippi river.

State Highway Department officials are at present making a thorough survey and are considering two routes.

Surveys are being made of the following proposed routes:

Proposed route No. 1: Construction of a concrete bridge at approximately 40 feet south of the present Laurel street bridge, the highway to run east 250 to 300 feet thence southeast back of the court house to Maple street, extending east on Maple street under the St. Paul track, thence north in that line to 12th street, thence north under the Duluth track to the fill extending north to A street N. E., continuing east for four blocks, thence running northeast to enter Lum Park where the present road is. From there the road will run northeast in an almost straight line to highway No. 2 one mile north of the Duluth track.

Proposed route No. 2: The other line survey will travel through Northeast in the same manner as proposed route No. 1 going west on Kingwood street, thence to Main street, thence west and crossing the river by a bridge north of the former Northern Pacific hospital, thence straight west going under the M. and I. track.

If the Maple street routing is selected an overhead crossing would be made over the N. P. track on the Staples line.

The Maple street routing would further necessitate the filling in of a section in the hollow behind the court house.

Decision on the routing is expected before spring.

Cost of the change in the highway northeast of Brainerd beyond Lum Park will be in addition to that allotted for rerouting of the highway through the city.

Crews of the Minnesota Highway Department have been actively engaged in the work of the surveys here during the past month. They are going over the proposed routes carefully.

Construction of the concrete bridge over the river would require one year. Underground and overhead passages at crossings as would be required where the highway meets railway tracks would eliminate future danger at these crossings.

The new routing would add considerable new paving within the city of Brainerd.

Paving of highway No. 2 will start from Carlton this season. The improved highway will pave the way for increased tourist traffic through this section and will bring Brainerd and the range towns closer together.

REP. JAMES M. BECK ADVANCES LEGAL CONTENTION IN THE HOUSE

THAT CONGRESS ITSELF HAS POWER TO LEGALIZE LIGHT WINES AND BEER

By KENNETH G. CRAWFORD (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Feb. 7.—Rep. James M. Beck, republican, Pennsylvania, former solicitor general of the United States, advanced the legal contention today in a house speech that congress itself has power to legalize light wines and beer, without repealing the 18th amendment, by vesting in the states the enforcing powers.

Congress, Beck said, "could, without any violation of the constitution, reach the conclusion that the methods of enforcement and the actual enforcement of the eighteenth amendment were best left to the states."

The Pennsylvania congressman, who is recognized as a constitutional authority not only in this country but abroad, capped this proposal with a denunciation of the republican party for its stand on prohibition, asserting it is destined to follow the footsteps of its Whig predecessors into oblivion if it continues to "sell its soul to the fanatical dregs and thus becomes the party of prohibition."

Beck declared that when the American people "recognize that the non-exercise of a power is not necessarily a challenge to the constitution, they will in due time wholly sweep away that monstrous compound of iniquity and folly, the Volstead law, and upon its ruin build afresh."

"They will recognize that the normal use of light wines and beer not only does not lead to intoxication, but promotes temperance by preventing hard drinking and the use of narcotics."

Beck said he might never live to see the repeal of the 18th amendment, adding, "fortunately, the American people are not so impotent that they can not undo this gigantic folly without first securing the consent of three-fourths of the states."

Beck's argument was heard with keen interest by his colleagues, not only because of their respect for his views, but because he went a step further than those who propose merely to modify the Volstead act to permit light wines and beers. He asserted that congress could turn the power over to the states without repealing the 18th amendment, which requires consent of three-fourths of the states.

Highly constitutional argument revolved about the theory that enforcement of constitutional amendments "depends upon the preponderant will of each living generation."

A clear distinction, he said, must be made between the clauses of the constitution that are, in themselves, a mandate to congress, and those that are a mere delegation to congress of a power to do a thing. He pointed out that the constitution "often leaves to the political discretion of congress the question as to the manner of their exercise."

"It must be conceded that the first section of the eighteenth amendment does not contain a prohibition, which, however, is a mere brutum fulmen

PHYSICIANS CONSIDER REST AN IMPORTANT FACTOR IN HIS RECOVERY

By THOMAS L. STOKES (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Feb. 7.—William Howard Taft passed a restful night and today those closely concerned with the illness of the former chief justice seemed much encouraged over his condition.

He dropped into a quiet sleep at about 8 P. M. yesterday, after having passed a comfortable day. When Dr. Thomas Clayton, his personal physician, called at midnight, he was still asleep and the doctor did not awaken him. The room where Mr. Taft is being cared for, was dark the remainder of the night and it was believed that his sleep continued.

Physicians consider rest an important factor in the efforts to bring about Mr. Taft's recovery.

The Taft household was astir soon after daybreak and there was a new atmosphere of optimism pervading it. Mr. Taft, it was explained, had slept practically the entire night and, there was confidence that he had made still further improvement.

Preparations were being made to receive Taft's daughter, Mrs. Helen Manning, and his brother, Horace Taft of Connecticut, who are expected today.

Only One of 7 Prohibition Reform Bills To Be Considered at Session of Congress

TARIFF AND MUSCLE SHOALS ALSO TAKEN UP

PROGRAM WOULD DISCARD UNTIL NEXT YEAR OTHER 6 PROHIBITION MEASURES

CALLS FOR ADJOURNMENT OF PRESENT SESSION WEEK OF JUNE 9

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Feb. 7.—One of the seven prohibition reform bills, the tariff and Muscle Shoals are on the program privately agreed upon by the senate republican leaders for the remainder of this session of congress.

The program would discard until next year the other six prohibition measures recommended by President Hoover's law enforcement commission. It calls for adjournment of the present session the week of June 9, but contemplates, of course, the passage of the usual government supply bills and minor measures which will come up.

The program was worked out by the leaders of the various senate groups and while it is not an official decision, it will have effect as such, in view of the existing senatorial situation and the practice prevailing of permitting the leaders to work out the legislative program.

It will probably sidetrack until the next session such important legislative proposals as railroad consolidation and the Couzens communications bill.

Since the prohibition reform bills were laid down by the commission, it has been obvious to the leaders that only one, the Williamson bill transferring prohibition enforcement from the treasury to the justice department now before hte house could be passed by both houses before adjournment.

The entire house and one-third of the senate membership are facing campaigns for re-election and primaries beginning in April. Many face fights for their political lives and want to get back home to get started.

After the first day to debate, it appeared the Williamson bill easily would be passed by the house probably tomorrow. The only contest is centering around the proposal to transfer jurisdiction over industrial alcohol to the justice department along with the rest of the prohibition unit. The

EIGHTEEN MINERS KILLED IN A COAL MINE EXPLOSION

OTHERS REPORTED MISSING AT STANDARDVILLE, UTAH, PROPERTY

FOUR RESCUED ALIVE AFTER A TERRIFIC BLAST ROCKED THE PROPERTY

Helper, Utah, Feb. 7.—Eighteen miners were killed in an explosion at the Standard Oil coal mine at Standardville, six miles northwest of here, late last night.

Seven others were missing today. Four were rescued alive after a terrific blast rocked the mine and spread poisonous gases through the drifts and slopes.

It was believed that 14 were killed outright in the explosion, while others were suffocated by gas.

Cause of the explosion was unknown.

Survivors declared the blast crumpled entry ways and hurled rocks, timber and debris through the drifts. There were 29 miners in the mine when the explosion occurred, and little hope was held for seven who had not been located.

Rescue crews, however, sought to penetrate the gas-filled tunnels and slopes, hoping that some of the men had been able to barricade themselves in small rooms and avoid the gas.

Women and children gathered about the main entrance, identifying bodies as they were brought out, and awaiting reports from the inside.

Identified dead were:

R. T. Springer, married.

J. L. Jensen, married.

F. H. Pritchett.

Angus Barney.

Roy Briggs, married.

Barney Johnson.

William McGuire.

Toby Wimber.

Frank L. James.

Udell Fowler.

J. D. Duke.

Cy Brady.

William Watson.

The four who were brought out alive were Andy Dougherty, Gerald Bamaaky, Rubio Monroe and a man named McClellan.

Helper, Utah, Feb. 7.—Among the stories of heroism that emerged from the smoke and gas-filled Standard mine was that of T. L. Pritchett, who sacrificed his life in an attempt to save his brother, F. H. Pritchett.

T. L. Pritchett was walking out of the mine tunnel, about a mile from the entrance, when the blast shook the ground, showering him with rocks and debris. Andy Dougherty, one of the men who was rescued, was a short distance ahead of Pritchett, and saw him turn and run back into the mine, hoping to save his brother.

The Pritchetts were carried out, dead.

STABILIZATION CORPORATION IS PROPOSED

FEDERAL FARM BOARD GIVES CONSIDERATION TO THE PROPOSAL

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION BEING DRAWN UP TO EXERT GOVERNMENTAL ACTION

Chicago, Feb. 7.—(U.P.)—The federal farm board had for consideration today a proposal that it immediately establish a wheat stabilization corporation to prevent collapse of the wheat market.

The wheat advisory committee, a section of the farm board, recommended to the board that it take advantage of the powers granted by the agricultural marketing act and set up a national surplus control organization with almost unlimited leeway in the amount of grain purchased in order to put wheat prices on their former level.

Articles of incorporation are being drawn up in order to exert the governmental action at the earliest possible time, William G. Kellogg, general manager of the Farmers' National Grain Corporation and chairman of the newly organized advisory committee, announced after meetings had been held yesterday and Wednesday.

Alexander Legge, chairman of the farm board, who attended the meetings, is believed to have endorsed the action of the advisory committee and he indicated that he approved immediate authorization of the stabilizing corporation.

The proposed corporation, which further will test the farm relief machinery devised by the last congress and mark the first attempt of the United States government to purchase sufficient of an existing crop to relieve demoralized price levels, will draw its funds from the revolving fund of the farm board. It is likely that congress soon will be asked to appropriate $100,000,000 or more from the $500,000,000 authorized by the federal farm act, in order to enable the corporation to buy up enough surplus wheat to push prices upward again.

Any losses which might be incurred by the corporation in buying up surplus wheat this year would be repaid by profits made in later years, according to the marketing act provisions.

The spectacular decline in the price of wheat, amounting to 12 cents in the past few days, has brought the price of the commodity more than 45 cents below the price of last June.

The wheat stabilization corporation probably will be only the first of several other such organizations in other farm products, members of the farm board have indicated that all coarse grains, such as corn, oats and rye, as well as cotton, may need stabilizing unless there is an unexpected upturn in market prices.

By JOSEPH T. WASNEY

(United Press Staff Correspondent) Washington, Feb. 7.—The federal farm board, facing its first emergency brought about by a wheat surplus and shortage of a market for it, will meet Monday to decide whether it will set up the machinery provided by congress to cope with such situations.

Formation of a grain stabilization corporation as authorized by congress to buy up the surplus held by cooperative marketing agencies and thus steady the lagging price, has been recommended by the wheat advisory committee of the farmers' national grain corporation after canvassing the situation with Chairman Alexander Legge of the farm board at Chicago.

Legge is expected back here today or tomorrow and will be prepared to lay the whole situation before the board Monday.

Spend Two Million Dollars for Bridge and Rerouting T. H. No. 2 Through Brainerd

SURVEY NOW IN FULL SWING COSTS $40,000

Two Routes Are Being Considered In Survey by the Minnesota Highway Department

Northeast Route Definitely Assured; Concrete Bridge Over Mississippi River

Re-routing of Trunk Highway No. 2 through the city of Brainerd will cost in the neighborhood of two million dollars, Representative A. M. Opsahl announced to the Dispatch this afternoon.

A survey to determine the routing of the highway through the city is now being carried on by crews of the Minnesota Highway department at a cost of $40,000.

The Northeast Brainerd route has been definitely assured. Grading work in the northeast section beyond Lum Park to continue the highway to join the present route one mile north of the Duluth tracks will start this year. The new highway routing will shorten the distance to the range by not less than three miles.

A three way split between the Minnesota Highway Department, the Northern Pacific Railway and the City of Brainerd will be made in meeting the expense of the routing through Brainerd with the highway department standing the heaviest allotment.

The routing of the highway through Brainerd will mean the construction of a concrete bridge over the Mississippi river.

State Highway Department officials are at present making a thorough survey and are considering two routes.

Surveys are being made of the following proposed routes:

Proposed route No. 1: Construction of a concrete bridge at approximately 40 feet south of the present Laurel street bridge, the highway to run east 250 to 300 feet thence southeast back of the court house to Maple street, extending east on Maple street under the St. Paul track, extending east in that line to 12th street, thence north under the Duluth track to the fill extending north to A street N. E., continuing east for four blocks, thence running northeast to enter Lum Park where the present road is. From there the road will run northeast in an almost straight line to highway No. 2 one mile north of the Duluth track.

Proposed route No. 2: The other line survey will travel through Northeast in the same manner as proposed route No. 1 going west on Kingwood street, thence to Main street, thence west and crossing the river by a bridge north of the former Northern Pacific hospital, thence straight west going under the M. and I. track.

If the Maple street routing is selected an overhead crossing would be made over the N. P. track on the Staples line.

The Maple street routing would further necessitate the filling in of a section in the hollow behind the court house.

Decision on the routing is expected before spring.

Cost of the change in the highway northeast of Brainerd beyond Lum Park will be in addition to that allotted for rerouting of the highway through the city.

Crews of the Minnesota Highway Department have been actively engaged in the work of the surveys here during the past month. They are going over the proposed routes carefully.

Construction of the concrete bridge over the river would require one year.

Underground and overhead passages at crossings as would be required where the highway meets railway tracks would eliminate future danger at these crossings.

The new routing would add considerable new paving within the city of Brainerd.

Paving of highway No. 2 will start from Carlton this season. The improved highway will pave the way for increased tourist traffic through this section and will bring Brainerd and the range towns closer together.

It is likely that congress soon will be asked to appropriate $100,000,000 or more from the $500,000,000 authorized by the federal farm act, in order to enable the corporation to buy up enough surplus wheat to push prices upward again.

Any losses which might be incurred by the corporation in buying up surplus wheat this year would be repaid by profits made in latter years, according to the marketing act provisions. The spectacular decline in the price of wheat, amounting to 12 cents in the past few days, has brought the price of the commodity more than 45 cents below the price of last June.

The wheat stabilization corporation probably will be only the first of several other such organizations in other farm products, members of the farm board have indicated that all coarse grains, such as corn, oats and rye, as well as cotton, may need stabilizing unless there is an unexpected upturn in market prices.

By JOSEPH T. WASNEY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Feb. 7.—The federal farm board, facing its first emergency brought about by a wheat surplus and shortage of a market for it, will meet Monday to decide whether it will set up the machinery provided by congress to cope with such situations.

Formation of a grain stabilization corporation as authorized by congress to buy up the surplus held by cooperative marketing agencies and thus steady the lagging price, has been recommended by the wheat advisory committee of the farmers' national grain corporation after canvassing the situation with Chairman Alexander Legge of the farm board at Chicago.

Legge is expected back here today or tomorrow and will be prepared to lay the whole situation before the board Monday.

Whether the board will take the emergency measures provided by congress cannot be forecast, but congressional farm leaders expect the formation of a $25,000,000 grain stabilization corporation within a few days. The $25,000,000 would come from the $150,000,000 revolving fund appropriated by congress.

In taking this step, the government would embark on a business venture of greater magnitude than ever attempted before in this country in peace time and one which will be closely watched.

The board faces a very important decision and the first real test of the Hoover administration's farm relief program. Congress provided that the various commodity groups, such as the grain corporation at Chicago, could form stabilization corporations in an emergency to buy up crops and steady the market, with approval of the farm board. Such is the proposal in this case.

How seriously the board considers the present wheat situation is shown by Legge's conferences at Chicago and (Continued on page 6)

EIGHTEEN MINERS KILLED IN A COAL MINE EXPLOSION

7 OTHERS REPORTED MISSING AT STANDARDVILLE, UTAH, PROPERTY

FOUR RESCUED ALIVE AFTER A TERRIFIC BLAST ROCKED THE PROPERTY

Helper, Utah, Feb. 7.—Eighteen miners were killed in an explosion at the Standard Oil coal mine at Standardville, six miles northwest of here, late last night.

Seven others were missing today. Four were rescued alive after a terrific blast rocked the mine and spread poisonous gases through the drifts and slopes.

It was believed that 14 were killed outright in the explosion, while others were suffocated by gas.

Cause of the explosion was unknown.

Survivors declared the blast crumbled entry ways and hurled rocks, timber and debris through the drifts. There were 29 miners in the mine when the explosion occurred, and little hope was held for seven who had not been located.

Rescue crews, however, sought to penetrate the gas-filled tunnels and slopes, hoping that some of the men had been able to barricade themselves in small rooms and avoid the gas.

Women and children gathered about the main entrance, identifying bodies as they were brought out, and awaiting reports from the inside.

Identified dead were:

R. T. Springer, married.

J. L. Jensen, married.

F. H. Pritchett.

T. L. Pritchett.

Charles Smith, married.

Angus Barney.

Roy Briggs, married.

William McGuire.

Toby Wimber.

Frank L. James.

Udell Fowles.

Barney Johnson.

J. D. Duke.

Cy Brady.

William Watson.

The four who were brought out alive were Andy Dougherty, Gerald Bamasky, Rubio Monroe and a man named McClellan.

Helper, Utah, Feb. 7.—Among the stories of heroism that emerged from the smoke and gas-filled Standard mine was that of T. L. Pritchett, who sacrificed his life in an attempt to save his brother, F. H. Pritchett.

T. L. Pritchett was walking out of the mine tunnel, about a mile from the entrance, when the blast shook the ground, showering him with rocks and debris. Andy Dougherty, one of the men who was rescued, was a short distance ahead of Pritchett, and saw him turn and run back into the mine, hoping to save his brother.

The Pritchetts were carried out, dead.

1ST PROPOSAL FOR SOME REAL DISARMAMENT

HENRY L. STIMSON OUTLINES
THE UNITED STATES
POSITION

AMERICAN OFFER TO BE AN-ALYZED BY JAPAN, FRANCE AND ITALY

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, Feb. 7.—With the first constructive proposal for real disarmament before them, naval experts today began an intensive study and discussion of America's offer — on a basis of parity with Great Britain — to pare down her naval forces.

The conference sub-committee met at 11 A. M. in the tapestry room at St. James Palace to consider the new developments. None of the "Big Five" delegates was present, only the experts attending the meeting.

The sub-committee adjourned at 12:30 P. M. after a discussion lasting an hour and a half.

The British cabinet met at No. 10 Downing Street while the committee was in session and it was understood it discussed developments at the naval conference.

Henry L. Stimson's statement outlining the United States position, made public last night in London and America, is received as the most important development at the London naval conference since the opening of the parity.

With no plenary session scheduled until next Tuesday, the American offer will be subjected to a four-day analysis by Japanese, French and Italian delegates, who are today chiefly concerned in it, since Great Britain, it is understood, already is in tentative agreement with the Stimson plan.

Premier Andre Tardieu of France, however, held to his original plan of paying a hurried visit to Paris, and left London at 9 A. M. today.

The straight forward presentation of America's needs and proposals were received with enthusiasm by the press in diplomatic quarters and among naval experts attached to the five delegations.

There was almost a noticeable feeling of relief that America had come forward and openly given the gist of what is generally regarded as the accord reached between the United States and Great Britain on their own naval problems.

The statement, issued last night, in a word, said this:

1. The United States wants immediate parity with Great Britain on every class of ship in the navy.

2. An "over all" suggestion was made to Japan under which it was hoped Washington and Tokio could reach an agreement probably similar to the 5-5-3 ratio now in existence. The terms of the American suggestions to Japan were not given.

3. No proposals were made to either France or Italy. The statement said the United States was interested in their problem, which it "was hoped would be settled, but that nothing definite was offered as a suggestion to them because their "problems are not so directly related to ours."

The United States proposes to go about reaching absolute parity with Great Britain in a comparatively simple manner. Two chief classes of ships are affected, namely, battleships and cruisers. As to the first:

Battleships: The statement suggested by reduction in number on both sides, that the fleet be equalized in 1931 rather than waiting until 1942. This means Britain, which now has 26 battleships, would scrap five, and the United States, with 18 battleships, would scrap three—leaving each with a fleet of 15 battleships in future.

Cruisers: The United States offered to permit Britain an advantage of 12,000 tons in cruisers, a negligible tonnage amounting to little more than one 10,000-ton ship. America is willing, the statement indicates, to recede from her original demand for 21 cruisers of the 10,000-ton class, and is ready to accept 18 of these cruisers as against Britain's 15—but giving Britain a 42,000-ton superiority in smaller cruisers with 6-inch guns.

This would mean:

	large cruisers	small cruisers
Britain	150,000 tons	189,000 tons
United States	180,000 tons	147,000 tons

Thus the United States in large cruisers, on this proposal would have an advantage of 30,000 tons. However, the British navy, if these terms are accepted, would have a 42,000-ton advantage in small cruisers, or a 12,000-ton net advantage.

The statement had a further proviso which would prevent Britain later from being dissatisfied with the agreement. It stipulated if Britain later desires to do so she can duplicate the American cruiser program at any time, building more 10,000-ton ships and scrapping smaller tonnage to even the total. America retains the same privilege.

Submarines were mentioned briefly. America's willingness to abolish undersea craft entirely was reiterated. If abolition is found impossible, as it likely will be, the American aim would be to limit their operations to the same rules of international law as apply to surface craft.

From a dollar and cents standpoint, the proposals mean spending less money on battleships and more on cruisers — with a net saving in the transaction.

Paving No. 2 Highway

PAVING of No. 2 highway from Aitkin to Carlton is scheduled to begin this summer, Otto Swanson, president of the Minnesota Good Roads association and retiring president of the Minnesota Automobile association, said on his return to Duluth from the annual meeting in Minneapolis of the automobile group, as announced in the Duluth News Tribune.

While the state highway commission has not officially made its announcement, Commissioner C. M. Babcock told Mr. Swanson from the work was to begin this year. The graded highway has settled sufficiently to warrant its paving, Mr. Swanson was informed in the Twin Cities.

Funds for the work have become available through the recent action of the federal government in increasing the road aid appropriation from $75,000,000 to $125,000,000, a move that will give the state highway department at least $1,200,000 extra for 1930 construction.

No. 2 will be paved from a point east of Aitkin to Carlton, Mr. Swanson said. The project has been urged for several years by Duluth groups.

And that brings us to consideration of the interests of Brainerd and the west end of State Trunk Highway No. 2. Brainerd desires linking up this city with Crosby and eastward. Resolutions innumerable from the city council, county commissioners, Chamber of Commerce and other organizations have been sent to the state highway commission and should be on file there. If the Duluth end of the highway is to get paving, then this section had better get busy again in order to press the transportation needs of this district.

The matter has been called to the attention of the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce and action will be taken by the proper committee.

The suggestion has been made that if the state highway commission has not decided on what route to follow entering Brainerd, then build from Crosby westward to Brainerd to a point where the route is in doubt and that would put in at least 12 miles or more of paving.

The Status of Friends

THE status of friends has been well described by the Wabasha County Herald Standard.

Friends are people who have seen each other at their worst and can still tolerate each other. It is commonly assumed that as relations are born to one and friends are of one's own making, there is a premium on friends. The unfortunate part about this is that while people are not responsible for their relations they are responsible for their friends, a responsibility that is often unbearable.

Friends are supposed to be people to whom we may turn for help in time of need, and yet a true friend is never supposed to impose upon his friends. Often "friends indeed" strike from their lists those "friends in need."

Though not always available in a crisis, friends are exceedingly conscientious about the minor functions of their office. They repeat to us unflattering things others say behind our backs and make us the butt of jokes, criticisms and admonitions.

Friendships are, so to speak, acquaintances which have "taken." Or perhaps it is more correct to say that friendships represent a survival of the fittest, for few persons can long survive the punishment friendship imposes.

There are many things that can be said for friendships and friends. One need not live in deadly fear of insulting them, nor must one forever be striving to make an impression upon them. And at all times one feels free to impose on them.

A friend in need may be a friend indeed, but the worst sort of enemy is the friend who has turned against us.

Mexican Minorities

LOYAL citizens of the Republic of Mexico will be joined by the people of the United States in their rejoicing over the escape of President Ortiz Rubio, from the assault of an assassin who attacked the presidential party at the gate of the National Palace, Wednesday, says the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

After the long years of almost constant difficulty with successive revolutionary governments in Mexico, recent relations of our government with the southern republic have been gratifying and reassuring. With relief, the nation has looked forward to a continuation of these cordial relations, anxious to forget the disorder and confusion of the previous era.

There has been every reason to hope for the best from the administration of President Ortiz Rubio, and it is to be greatly regretted that the otherwise auspicious opening of the present administration should have been disturbed by the unfortunate affair of last Wednesday.

The apparent incapacity of Mexican minorities to reconcile themselves to political victories attained by constitutional means, is bound to complicate for the Republic the problem of continuing its program of internal improvement and increase difficulties of fostering confidence abroad.

Will Be Candidate for Judge

ALL doubt as to whether Alfred L. Thwing of Grand Rapids would be a candidate for judge of the 15th judicial district, which includes Crow Wing county, has been removed by a circular letter he has sent to presumably every newspaper in the district, in which he announces he will not seek re-election as state senator in his district, but will be a candidate for the judicial office.

He closes his letter by saying that "in due time I am sure the merits of Itasca county's plea for a resident judge and such merits as I have as a candidate will receive fair consideration. We shall make a campaign befitting the office."

This brings up the issue squarely. Shall Brainerd continue as the seat of a resident judge or shall this great honor and privilege and real benefit go to Itasca county?

CALIFORNIA has a "fit at 50" club. It is no novelty any more and Arthur Brisbane suggests the state with the rejuvenating climate should make a try at establishing a "fit at 100" club.

HIGHWAYS and streets are slippery and deceiving on account of a mantle of snow now concealing icy ways and ruts. The careful motorist drives slowly.

THE saddest feeling overcomes a person when he visits the auto show and is unable to trade the old bus and get a new car.

Paving No. 2 Highway

PAVING of No. 2 highway from Aitkin to Carlton is scheduled to begin this summer, Otto Swanstrom, president of the Minnesota Good Roads association and retiring president of the Minnesota Automobile association, said on his return to Duluth from the annual meeting in Minneapolis of the automobile group, as announced in the Duluth News Tribune.

While the state highway commission has not officially made its announcement, Commissioner C. M. Babcock told Mr. Swanstrom the work was to begin this year. The graded highway has settled sufficiently to warrant its paving, Mr. Swanstrom was informed in the Twin Cities.

Funds for the work have become available through the recent action of the federal government in increasing the road aid appropriation from $75,000,000 to $125,000,000, a move that will give the state highway department at least $1,200,000 extra for 1930 construction.

No. 2 will be paved from a point east of Aitkin to Carlton, Mr. Swanstrom said. The project has been urged for several years by Duluth groups.

And that brings us to consideration of the interests of Brainerd and the west end of State Trunk Highway No. 2. Brainerd desires linking up this city with Crosby and eastward. Resolutions innumerable from the city council, county commissioners, Chamber of Commerce and other organizations have been sent to the state highway commission and should be on file there. If the Duluth end of the highway is to get paving, then this section had better get busy again in order to press the transportation needs of this district.

The matter has been called to the attention of the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce and action will be taken by the proper committee.

The suggestion has been made that if the state highway commission has not decided on what route to follow entering Brainerd, then build from Crosby westward to Brainerd to a point where the route is in doubt and that would put in at least 12 miles or more of paving.

The Status of Friends

THE status of friends has been well described by the Wabasha County Herald Standard.

Friends are people who have seen each other at their worst and can still tolerate each other. It is commonly assumed that as relations are born to one and friends are of one's own making, there is a premium on friends. The unfortunate part about this is that while people are not responsible for their relations they are responsible for their friends, a responsibility that is often unbearable.

Friends are supposed to be people to whom we may turn for help in time of need, and yet a true friend is never supposed to impose upon his friends. Often "friends indeed" strike from their lists those "friends in need."

Though not always available in a crisis, friends are exceedingly conscientious about the minor functions of their office. They repeat to us unflattering things others say behind our backs and make us the butt of jokes, criticisms and admonitions.

Friendships are, so to speak, acquaintances which have "taken." Or perhaps it is more correct to say that friendships represent a survival of the fittest, for few persons can long survive the punishment friendship imposes.

There are many things that can be said for friendships and friends. One need not live in deadly fear of insulting them, nor must one forever be striving to make an impression upon them. And at all times one feels free to impose on them.

A friend in need may be a friend indeed, but the worst sort of enemy is the friend who has turned against us.

Mexican Minorities

LOYAL citizens of the Republic of Mexico will be joined by the people of the United States in their rejoicing over the escape of President Ortiz Rubio, from the assault of an assassin who attacked the presidential party at the gate of the National Palace, Wednesday, says the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

After the long years of almost constant difficulty with successive revolutionary governments in Mexico, recent relations of our government with the southern republic have been gratifying and reassuring. With relief, the nation has looked forward to a continuation of these cordial relations, anxious to forget the disorder and confusion of the previous era.

There has been every reason to hope for the best from the administration of President Ortiz Rubio, and it is to be greatly regretted that the otherwise auspicious opening of the present administration should have been disturbed by the unfortunate affair of last Wednesday.

The apparent incapacity of Mexican minorities to reconcile themselves to political victories attained by constitutional means, is bound to complicate for the Republic the problem of continuing its program of internal improvement and increase difficulties of fostering confidence abroad.

Will Be Candidate for Judge

ALL doubt as to whether Alfred L. Thwing of Grand Rapids would be a candidate for judge of the 15th judicial district, which includes Crow Wing county, has been removed by a circular letter he has sent to presumably every newspaper in the district, in which he announces he will not seek re-election as state senator in his district, but will be a candidate for the judicial office.

He closes his letter by saying that "in due time I am sure the merits of Itasca county's plea for a resident judge and such merits as I have as a candidate will receive fair consideration. We shall make a campaign befitting the office."

This brings up the issue squarely. Shall Brainerd continue as the seat of a resident judge or shall this great honor and privilege and real benefit go to Itasca county?

CALIFORNIA has a "fit at 50" club. It is no novelty any more and Arthur Brisbane suggests the state with the rejuvenating climate should make a try at establishing a "fit at 100" club.

HIGHWAYS and streets are slippery and deceiving on account of a mantle of snow now concealing icy ways and ruts. The careful motorist drives slowly.

THE saddest feeling overcomes a person when he visits the auto show and is unable to trade the old bus and get a new car.

PLAY GAME IN ARMORY TO ACCOMMODATE LARGE TURNOUT

300 FANS OFF TO CROSBY TONIGHT TO CHEER B. H. S.

SHIFT IN LOCATIONS DECIDED UPON ON INDICATIONS OF CAPACITY HOUSE

FIGHT TO THE LAST SEEN IN BRAINERD HIGH-C.L. CLASH; CHANCES EVEN

So large has been the demands for seats in tonight's encounter between Brainerd and Crosby-Ironton high school that the officials that be in the range towns have decided to schedule the game at the Crosby Armory instead of the high school.

Some 300 Brainerd fans prepared today to be off to Crosby to see what is predicted to be the prize basketball encounter of the season.

Many of these fans will leave Brainerd as early as 6 o'clock to insure places on the sidelines.

Tonight's battle will be one to the last with no team given odds to win. The strong defenses which both teams have perfected for the game indicates that the game will be won on long range shooting. Whatever team wins will do so by a margin of only a few points, not more than five at the greatest. The game will start at 8 P. M.

The south side of the west end section of the armory seats will be reserved for Brainerd rooters. Crosby will be on the north side of the west end.

The Brainerd high pep brass band of 20 pieces under the direction of Roy LaMeter will be on hand to lend their support in the cheering. Cheer leaders rehearsed the students this afternoon.

Word's Meaning Changed

Victory or defeat Shall await

Crosby's touted range team In the season's classic.

Crosby is slow We'd better say no For they are as fast as the breeze And most of their men Are seven feet ten And we only come up to their knees. —By Carnera's Kid Brother.

But who cares about that? "The bigger they are, the harder they fall." The big and burning question is—will they fall? Your guess is as good as ours.

Hautala, Foster and Guin, The boys who put the ball in; Kasch has Clausen and Foster To add to that roster And a "Bulldog" spirit to win.

The direction in the cook-book for the above—cook in a sing-song voice and serve while hot.

The Bulldog fight— The Bulldog fight— And the Bulldog rooters Say it's a Bulldog night!

And Crosby's only comment is, "Woock, Woock, you can't scare us, Bulldogs, we're coming to get ya!"

Lottie suggested a new yell for the Bulldogs this afternoon. It goes something like this: "Gr-r-r-r-r-r, Bulldogs, Whoopie! She says nothing is a success any more without some whoopie in it."

The Little Falls Transcript says so many kind things. Now take yesterday, for instance. They said that Russell's Globe Trotters is in a class with any professional team in the state. Some think they mean in the state of collapse.

But, no fooling, the Trotters are a pretty good ball club and we think Little Falls for "them kind words." And as soon as the Globe Trotters get in some good practices and start to bring some first class independent teams here, they'll draw crowds like candy draws flies.

Little Falls promises to bolster its line-up for the return game with the Trotters to be played in Little Falls tomorrow evening.

The west end of the south side of the Crosby gym will be reserved for Brainerd rooters this evening. And you'd better bring your ear-muffs along if you don't want to lose an eardrum when that gang starts to yell.

We hope they will have something logical to cheer for.

It is reported that the B. H. S. girls are going to start in practicing a little basketball themselves next week. We hope that they will see fit to play boy's rules and not under girls' code of etiquette. When the game is played the latter way the contest proves to be about as interesting as a good "hot" game of checkers. "Whoops, my deah, it's your move now!"

Well, it begins to look as though Tom Lieb has landed a $10,000 job. That boy did Rockne's work all last fall, and if a man can do that and do it the right way, he is worth the $10,000 he has been asking.

WILL ATTEND NAT'L RECREATION SCHOOL IN N. Y.

QUALIFIED IN SCHOLASTIC, ATHLETIC AND LEADERSHIP ABILITY

IS ONE OF 35 SENIORS IN AMERICAN COLLEGES SO HONORED

Floyd A. Nelson, University of Minnesota, son of Dr. and Mrs. Nesmith Nelson of Brainerd, has been selected by the Playground and Recreation Association of America as one of the thirty-five young men and women seniors in American colleges and universities to attend the National Recreation School in New York City next autumn.

From the candidates who qualify in scholastic, athletic and leadership ability, the association invites this limited number each year to receive professional training in community recreation.

The course is for one year. Practice and demonstration rather than theory comprises its method. Athletics, social recreation, community music, community drama, dramatics, handicraft, nature study, camping, boys' and girls' clubs, home recreation, community centers, problems of finance and publicity and school recreation are some of the principal subjects in the curriculum.

The faculty has been drawn from city recreation departments and universities in many states and includes: J. B. Nash, associate professor of physical education, New York University; Professor Alfred G. Arvid of North Dakota Agricultural College, founder of the "Little Country Theatre"; Peter W. Dykema, professor of music, Teachers College, Columbia University; Joseph Lee of Boston, "father of the play movement in America"; William Burdick, director of the Playground Athletic League of Baltimore; Anne Carroll Moore, New York Public Library; Dr. William G. Vinal of Western Reserve University and other well-known leaders in the field of leisure time activities.

The athletic fields and lake of Central Park and the gymnasium and swimming pool of the Heckscher building where the school meets are used by the students throughout the course. The Playground and Recreation Association of America, which maintains the school, was founded in 1906 by Theodore Roosevelt, Luther Halsey Gulick, Jane Adams, Henry S. Curtis and other leaders in the recreation movement in the United States.

CARNERA SCORES ANOTHER QUICK KAYO LAST NIGHT

FLOORS ONE OWENS, A NONDESCRIBT FROM GUTHRIE, OKLAHOMA

OWENS RUSHED CARNERA SEVERAL TIMES IN 1ST ROUND, LANDING BLOWS

By GEORGE KIRKSEY (United-Press Staff Correspondent) Newark, N. J., Feb. 7. — Another quick knockout was added today to Primo Carnera's American record which now reads:

February 6 — KO'd Cowboy Billy Owens in 23 seconds of the second round.

January 31 — KO'd Elzear Rioux in 47 seconds.

January 24 — KO'd Big Boy Peterson in 70 seconds.

Carnera, weighing 276 pounds, finished Owens, a nondescript from Guthrie, Okla., with a series of lefts and rights to the head in the second round here last night before a crowd of 7,500. Owens was counted out after the fourth right to the jaw. Owens weighed 223.

After holding Carnera fairly even in the first round, Owens wilted under a two-fisted attack to the head as soon as the second round got underway.

Owens actually was hit last night and did not collapse from fright as did Carnera's other two opponents. Owens rushed into Carnera several times in the first round and landed half a dozen blows. None of them did any apparent damage, but he was in there trying as long as he remained erect.

No sooner had Carnera disposed of his third American "set-up" than preparations were underway for him to leave for St. Louis, where he takes on another doubtful opponent on Tuesday night.

Buster Martin, 200-pound Oklahoman, will be Carnera's next opponent in place of Tiny Roebuck, former Haskell Indians' football star, who was ruled an unsuitable opponent by the Missouri state boxing commission.

Some Winning Streaks

By HARDIN BURNLEY

AMERICAN League champions in baseball World Series have defeated their National League rivals in twelve out of the last thirteen games played; the former winning ten straight until the Cubs captured that lone game from the Athletics last fall. The New York Yankees crushed the St. Louis Cardinals four in a row in 1927, and repeated against the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1928. Then Connie Mack's team clipped the Chicago Cubs in all but one of the 1929 World Series.

Old circuit fans are still hopeful, while predicting desperately: "The Americans took us three runnings; watch the Nationals start our string in 1930!" That championship American League winning streak over the Nationals is reaching a significance (shall we note?) almost as convincing as West Coast football victories over Eastern teams!

Boxing furnishes an even more consistent success series in the truly remarkable record of Kid Chocolate, dusky Cuban feather, who has amassed 159 wins and one draw up to the start of 1930. Of course, most of those victories were scored over utterly obscure pugilists, but the Keed's record also includes triumphs over several of the best boys in his class. This little negro is said to be still less than 21, though for license purposes he would appear to be 22. Chocolate started chucking gloved fists for money when hardly more than a child right off the newsie-battled streets of his native Havana. In two or three instances since getting the fistic spotlight, the Keed perhaps has been given a shade the best of it in close decisions, but, on the whole, his many performances for more than a year present him as one of the best boxers of these times.

Who will whip Chocolate officially for the first time? Surely, the chap who does that will come close to being world's champion among the little fellows of fistiana.

And, of course, the most talked-of recent winning spurge was that of the Boston Bruins, league-leading hockey team, which won fourteen straight games before the New York Americans upset them, 3-2. Other hockey units have run up great winning streaks, but none ever achieved fourteen, unmarred even by a tie.

Cooney Weiland and Dutch Gainer, goal-scoring sharpshooters, had much to do with that fourteen straight, particularly the former. Both are among the ablest forwards seen since the new rules made hockey super-speedy, yet both were listed as spares, so powerful is that Bruin outfit!

"MASTER of MONEY" BY ROY VICKERS

CHAPTER I.

IN a bedroom at the Hotel Felton, not far from Washington Square, Alan Brennaway was struggling with his tie. It had looked a good tie when he bought it, thick and lustrous; but now, under his nervous fingers, it was thinning to the dimensions of a shoe lace. He tugged frantically—and the silk split.

Alan laughed. His laughter steadied him. He looked round his littered belongings and compared them with the dingy walls and hangings. Against such a background even the most battered of his leather cases looked opulent. What had made him pick out this place? He answered his own question and the answer steadied him still further.

"I came back here because, in a sense, I started from here. I wanted to show myself that I've done what I set out to do. It's so curiously hard to realize—"

He lit a cigarette and tried yet again to realize things. The successful culmination of seven years' struggle, the professional and social solidity that could never again be challenged, the two and a half millions lying at his bank—nothing dream-like about these. And yet till now his waking consciousness had not fully grasped them; perhaps because till now there had been no time.

This was his first holiday after seven grinding Mexican years. With that thought came at last a genuine relaxation; and with the relaxation came the memories that were the only measure of his achievement.

Downstairs in that hotel, seven years ago, Shirley had had tea with him; the day before he left. Shirley had slipped out of the rush and glitter of her world and come to this hole of a place and smiled at him over cakes and ices.

It was a time when the fashion had run to big black rats. Shirley's had been tilted sideways and backwards somehow and her face had seemed to stand out against a background of darkness, white and rose and infinitely appealing. In those seven years the sound-memory of her voice had grown dim, but the memory of her face under the black hat was vivid—sometimes torturingly vivid.

He could remember her voice best when he could remember her actual words. To him it seemed she had odd little tricks of phrase. There had fallen a silence—a silence at the wrong time—a few minutes before she would have to go. He had offered her a penny for her thoughts.

"Well, really and truly"—it was a favorite old gesture of theirs and meant that she was going to lie—"really and truly, I was admiring myself." He waited—and then came the truth. "We've been together for an hour and twelve minutes and not by the faintest flicker of an eyelash have I shown that I'm sorry you're going." And then, abruptly: "Come back, dear old Alan."

There had been, or he thought there had been, a tiny pause before the "old Alan." It had lived in his memory as "Come back, dear."

She had got up then and, bending across the tea-table, said quickly and prosaically, "I know, know you will make a fortune." And then she had flitted off ten minutes or so before there was any need, leaving him staring at the tea things.

"I know you will make a fortune," Shirley was twenty then; she was almost fanatically in love with life, she was beautiful; her father's income could hardly be her, but not blinded by his love. If the real Shirley were never born his love would be mere wistful regret. If she shone forth, triumphant, his reward would be great.

So he had left it on the laps of the gods. He had not gone to Mexico to make a fortune, though he had, incidentally, acquired one. He had gone to set in working order a mine in which his father had sunk most of his money, all his hope, and, finally, his health. Alan had set the mine going—and another mine as well—and there had been subsidiary enter-much under fifty thousand a year. Shirley travelled and danced and yachted and rode and wore frocks like dew or like flowers and revelled in every minute of every day.

She said she knew she was nothing but an exuberant young animal and she had no quarrel with the fact. She said she could not and would not have life otherwise and so long as the fifty thousand a year could buy her what she liked she would take and take and take. She said in effect—

"Come back, dear—old Alan, but only with enough to give me all I want forever and ever, amen."

After she had gone, Alan had sat on, turning it over in his mind. It was not, of course, the exuberant Shirley of the illustrated papers that he loved. It was to the Shirley behind all that that his spirit reached out; to the Shirley who might emerge when the light in pleasure, as an end in itself, was growing stale. Might emerge.

He had gone to Mexico loving prises. Now there were the millions at the bank and the best years ahead, for Alan was only thirty-five.

But he looked at least ten years older. In a year Mexico can make any young man look forty-five—and Mexico had been given a full seven years to blot out the last traces of boyishness in Alan Brennaway. It was the sun, of course, that had parched his skin, but the sun alone could hardly have turned his black hair to iron gray.

There had been disease, disappointment, dirt to account for that camps in the paralyzing heat, flies and filth and human depravity. The gray hair brought the vivid blue of his eyes into greater significance, but he could not guess that. He stared, frowning, dissatisfied. Thank heaven, he had kept fit—but that was all there was to it. His thoughts flashed back to Shirley.

PLAY GAME IN ARMORY TO ACCOMMODATE LARGE TURNOUT

FLOYD A. NELSON, BRAINERD U. STUDENT, HONORED

300 FANS OFF TO CROSBY TONIGHT TO CHEER B. H. S.

SHIFT IN LOCATIONS DECIDED UPON ON INDICATIONS OF CAPACITY HOUSE

FIGHT TO THE LAST SEEN IN BRAINERD HIGH-C.I. CLASH; CHANCES EVEN

So large has been the demands for seats in tonight's encounter between Brainerd and Crosby-Ironton high school that the officials that be in the range towns have decided to schedule the game at the Crosby Armory instead of the high school.

Some 300 Brainerd fans prepared today to be off to Crosby to see what is predicted to be the prize basketball encounter of the season.

Many of these fans will leave Brainerd as early as 6 o'clock to insure places on the sidelines.

Tonight's battle will be one to the last with no team given odds to win. The strong defenses which both teams have perfected for the game indicates that the game will be won on long range shooting. Whatever team wins will do so by a margin of only a few points, not more than five at the greatest. The game will start at 8 P. M.

The south side of the west end section of the armory seats will be reserved for Brainerd rooters. Crosby will be on the north side of the west end.

The Brainerd high pep brass band of 20 pieces under the direction of Roy LaMetter will be on hand to lend their support in the cheering. Cheer leaders rehearsed the students this afternoon.

Word's Meaning Changed

"Idiot" originally meant a "private man"—one not engaged in business. The present meaning of the word grew from the idea that such people were out of touch with things, and ignorant.

The Little Falls Transcript says so many kind things. Now take yesterday, for instance. They said that Russell's Globe Trotters is in a class with any professional team in the state. Some think they mean in the state of collapse.

But, no fooling, the Trotters are a pretty good ball club and we thank Little Falls for "them kind words." And as soon as the Globe Trotters get in some good practices and start to bring some first class independent teams here, they'll draw crowds like candy draws flies.

Little Falls promises to bolster its line-up for the return game with the Trotters to be played in Little Falls tomorrow evening.

The west end of the south side of the Crosby gym will be reserved for Brainerd rooters this evening. And you'd better bring your ear-muffs along if you don't want to lose an eardrum when that gang starts to yell.

We hope they will have something logical to cheer for.

It is reported that the B. H. S. girls are going to start in practicing a little basketball themselves next week. We hope that they will see fit to play by the rules and not under girls' code of etiquette. When the game is played the latter way the contest proves to be about as interesting as a good "hot" game of checkers. "Whoops, my dear, it's your move now!"

Well, it begins to look as though Tom Lieb has landed a $10,000 job. That boy did Rockne's work all last fall, and if a man can do that and do it the right way, he is worth the $10,000 he has been asking.

The course is for one year. Practice and demonstration rather than theory comprises its method. The faculty has been drawn from city recreation departments and universities in many states and includes: J. B. Nash, associate professor of physical education, New York University; North Dakota Agricultural College, founder of the "Little Country Theatre"; Peter W. Dykema, professor of music, Teachers College, Columbia University; Joseph Lee of Boston, "father of the play movement in America"; William Burdick, director of the Playground Athletic League of Baltimore; Anne Carroll Moore, New York Public Library; Dr. William G. The athletic fields and lake of Central Park and the gymnasium and swimming pool of the Hecksher building where the school meets are used by the students throughout the course. The Playground and Recreation Association of America, which maintains the school, was founded in 1906 by Theodore Roosevelt, Luther Halsey Gulick, Jane Adams, Henry S. Curtis and other leaders in the recreation movement in the United States.

CARNERA SCORES ANOTHER QUICK KAYO LAST NIGHT

FLOORS ONE OWENS, A NONDESCRIBPT FROM GUTHRIE, OKLAHOMA

OWENS RUSHED CARNERA SEVERAL TIMES IN 1ST ROUND, LANDING BLOWS

By GEORGE KIRKSEY (United-Press Staff Correspondent) Newark, N. J., Feb. 7. — Another quick knockout was added today to Primo Carnera's American record which now reads:

February 6 KO'd Cowboy Billy Owens in 23 seconds of the second round.

January 21 KO'd Elazar Rioux in 47 seconds.

January 24 KO'd Big Boy Peterson in 70 seconds.

Carnera, weighing 276 pounds, finished Owens, a nondescript from Guthrie, Okla., with a series of lefts and rights to the head in the second round here last night before a crowd of 7,500. Owens was counted out after the fourth right to the jaw. Owens weighed 225.

After holding Carnera fairly even in the first round, Owens wilted under a two-fisted attack to the head as soon as the second round got underway. Owens actually was hit last night and did not collapse from fright as did Carnera's other two opponents. Owens rushed into Carnera several times in the first round and landed half a dozen blows. None of them did any apparent damage, but he was in there trying as long as he remained erect.

No sooner had Carnera disposed of his third American "set-up" than preparations were underway for him to leave for St. Louis, where he takes on another doubtful opponent on Tuesday night.

Duster Martin, 200-pound Oklahoma, will be Carnera's next opponent in place of Tiny Roebuck, former Haskell Indians' football star, who was ruled an unsuitable opponent by the Missouri state boxing commission.

STRIVING TO PREVENT
COLLAPSE OF WHEAT MARKET

a trip through the wheat area is now being taken by Samuel McKelvie, wheat member of the board.

Storage facilities for wheat are "quite packed," according to the department of agriculture. There has been a steady drop in the export demand. Crops abroad are good and the foreign market for American wheat is poor.

Visible stocks of wheat in the United States on Feb. 1 were 168,351,000 bushels, nearly 40,000,000 bushels more than a year ago, and farmers are continuing to send their commodity to markets and elevators despite this surplus abroad. Wheat production in the United States is keeping ahead of demand and it is estimated the 1930 crop will be about 570,000,000 bushels, about the same as in 1928. Export wheat must compete with export from Canada, Australia, Argentina and possibly Russia.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Effective Relief for Constipation.
Also Adds Iron to the Blood

Do you suffer from constipation? Are you one of those who have tried one "vest pocket cure" after another and still have no sense of permanent relief? If so, this is big news to you! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is natural, effective relief for both temporary and recurring constipation. It is the original—and today is included in the diets of millions of people who formerly suffered from constipation.

When roughage is missing from food, constipation is the consequence. The soft foods we eat today seldom include enough roughage. The simple necessity, then, is to see to it that sufficient roughage is included in our food.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the bulk that your system requires.

In addition, it is rich in iron. Scientific research proves that nearly all this iron is absorbed by the system, building red blood and bringing the glorious color of health to the complexion.

STRIVING TO PREVENT

a trip through the wheat area is now being taken by Samuel McKelvie, wheat member of the board.
Storage facilities for wheat are "quite packed," according to the department of agriculture. There has been a steady drop in the export demand. Crops abroad are good and the foreign market for American wheat is poor.

Visible stocks of wheat in the United States on Feb. 1 were 168,351,000 bushels, nearly 40,000,000 bushels more than a year ago, and farmers are continuing to send their commodity to markets and elevators despite this surplus abroad. Wheat production in the United States is keeping ahead of demand and it is estimated the 1930 crop will be about 570,000,000 bushels, about the same as in 1928. Export wheat must compete with export from Canada, Australia, Argentina and possibly Russia.

Gates W. McGarrath, of New York, chairman of the board and Federal Reserve agent of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, is mentioned as possible head of the bank for international settlements to be set up in Basle, Switzerland. It is reported that McGarrath's name has been submitted to governors of foreign central banks as one of the two American directors.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Effective Relief for Constipation.
Also Adds Iron to the Blood

Do you suffer from constipation? Are you one of those who have tried one "vest pocket cure" after another and still have no sense of permanent relief? If so, this is big news to you! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is natural, effective relief for both temporary and recurring constipation. It is the original—and today is included in the diets of millions of people who formerly suffered from constipation.

When roughage is missing from food, constipation is the consequence. The soft foods we eat today seldom include enough roughage. The simple necessity, then, is to see to it that sufficient roughage is included in our food.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the bulk that your system requires.

In addition, it is rich in iron. Scientific research proves that nearly all this iron is absorbed by the system, building red blood and bringing the glorious color of health to the complexion.

Although the greatest secrecy shrouds the case, it is learned that the decree was signed by Supreme Court Justice Selah B. Strong in Town Hall, Huntington, L. I. Mrs. Leeds was formerly Princess Xenia of Russia. Her marriage to the wealthy American was the occasion of international comment.

AND IS ARRESTED

Cleveland, O., Feb. 7. — (U.P.) — When Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, was arrested in Maple Heights for driving his automobile at an alleged speed of 82 miles an hour last night he told Marshal Louis Seely that he was hurrying to referee a fight.

"You'll have to guess again, Johnny," Seely replied. "Being the marshal here is only one of the things I do. I'm promoting the fight you're to referee and know you don't have to get there until 10 o'clock. It's only 7:45 now."

Danny Dunn, Risko's manager, furnished bond.

WILLING OAK LEAVES

Oak Lawn Township Ladies Club Met
With Mrs. John
Strobel

The Willing Oak Leaves club of Oak Lawn township met at the home of Mrs. John Strobel on Tuesday afternoon for lesson No. 4 in the continuation of their work in the Home Management project.

Meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Geo. McKay, the following ladies answering to roll call: Mrs. Lawrence McCulloch, Mrs. August Erickson, Mrs. H. Aspholm, Mrs. Frank Miller, Mrs. Wm. Ostby, Mrs. Ed. Laughton, Mrs. A. Liners, Mrs. Fred Schultz, Mrs. Roy Norton, Mrs. C. W. Kylio, Mrs. Bert Livingston, Mrs. John Strobel, Mrs. David Sandberg, Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Geo. McKay, Mrs. Sorenson and Miss C. Walz.

After a short business session the meeting was turned over to the leaders, Mrs. McCulloch and Mrs. McKay, who proceeded to enlighten the ladies present on the use of various articles of a well equipped kitchen, showing the importance of having the right tool for each job in the housekeeping duties; also having it handy for use of the busy worker, who must make every move count.

As the meeting was quite lengthy it was decided to postpone hearing the report of Mrs. August Erickson, sent by the club to the Home Makers short course given at the University farm at St. Paul in January.

At the close of the meeting a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses and the club adjourned to meet again March 4 at the home of Mrs. A. Liners.

Gilbert Lake Club Discuss Kitchen

As roll was called each lady responded by telling in what way she had been benefited by the rearrangement of her kitchen or suggestions gotten from previous lessons. Only two members prepared a test meal.

The meeting was then turned over to the leaders who gave a very good illustration on labor saving devices in small kitchen equipment, also much discussion was given on the care of knives and egg beaters. For the next lesson, members are asked to bring a hint on some labor saving device tried out in the kitchen.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. L. A. Stearns, on March 6, with Mrs. C. H. Miller and Mrs. N. E. Lovestad serving refreshments.

Not only will his lecture be of vital interest to all who hear him, but will be illuminating as to the real problems and ideals of the east. He will appear in his richly colorful native costume.

India with its diversity, its complexity, its beauty in art and philosophy, outlooks and faiths, has always attracted the attention of the whole world, and has produced some of the outstanding personalities of the age. The lecture will follow the luncheon to be held at 1 o'clock at the Elks hall, at which Miss Caroline Wals county nurse, will give a short talk. Election of officers for the coming year will be held, and all Brainerd members are urged to attend. Several out of town members are also expected. All wishing to make reservations for the luncheon should phone 305 before 11 o'clock Saturday morning.

WILLING OAK LEAVES

Oak Lawn Township Ladies Club Met
With Mrs. John
Strobel

The Willing Oak Leaves club of Oak Lawn township met at the home of Mrs. John Strobel on Tuesday afternoon for lesson No. 4 in the continuation of their work in the Home Management project.

Meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Geo. McKay, the following ladies answering to roll call: Mrs. Lawrence McCulloch, Mrs. August Erickson, Mrs. H. Aspholm, Mrs. Frank Miller, Mrs. Wm. Ostby, Mrs. Ed. Laughton, Mrs. A. Liners, Mrs. Fred Schultz, Mrs. Roy Norton, Mrs. C. W. Kylio, Mrs. Bert Livingston, Mrs. John Strobel, Mrs. David Sandberg, Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Geo. McKay, Mrs. Sorenson and Miss C. Walz.

After a short business session the meeting was turned over to the leaders, Mrs. McCulloch and Mrs. McKay, who proceeded to enlighten the ladies present on the use of various articles of a well equipped kitchen, showing the importance of having the right tool for each job in the housekeeping duties, also having it handy for use of the busy worker, who must make every move count.

As the meeting was quite lengthy it was decided to postpone hearing the report of Mrs. August Erickson, sent by the club to the Home Makers short course given at the University farm at St. Paul in January.

At the close of the meeting a delicious lunch was served by the hostess and the club adjourned to meet again March 4 at the home of Mrs. A. Liners.

Gilbert Lake Club Discuss Kitchen

Gilbert Lake Home Management club met Thursday afternoon, Feb. 3, at the home of Mrs. Luepker, with seven members present and one visitor.

The business meeting was opened by the reading of the Home Makers Creed and the minutes of the last regular meeting by Secretary Mrs. N. E. Lovestad. As roll was called each lady responded by telling in what way she had been benefitted by the rearrangement of her kitchen or suggestions gotten from previous lessons. Only two members prepared a test meal.

The meeting was then turned over to the leaders who gave a very good illustration on labor saving devices in small kitchen equipment, also much discussion was given on the care of knives and egg beaters. For the next lesson, members are asked to bring a hint on some labor saving device tried out in the kitchen.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. L. A. Stearns, on March 6, with Mrs. C. H. Miller and Mrs. N. E. Lovestad serving refreshments.

GOOD PEKINGESE WORTH $5,000

New York, Feb. 7.—(U.P.)—Miss Myrtle Bauer, former Ziegfeld follies girl, thinks a good Pekingese is worth about $5,000. A least that is the amount she seeks from the producer and his wife, Billie Burke. According to Miss Bauer's suit, Miss Burke's big bad police dog "tore, bit and maimed" her playful little "Peke" so severely that the latter now is in puppy heaven.

WHAT WASHED WHEAT MEANS—
to you ~ and your bakingINSERT (upper left) shows
how wheat reaches the mill.INSERT (lower right) shows
same wheat after passing through washing equipment.

MOST flour mills do not wash wheat before grinding it into flour. Some mills wash some of their wheat. In the Occident mills all wheat is washed . . .
then scoured . . . before the milling process starts.
This extra step not only means hygienic cleanliness
. . . it also insures creamy whiteness in your bread.
Occident is always exactly the same pure, wholesome flour. Constant testing in laboratory and bakery make it so.

You can use the same recipe throughout every day of the year with complete assurance of absolute excellence in your bread.

The finest wheat costs more than ordinary wheat . . . extra safeguards for finest quality also add to the cost of Occident Flour. But we know . . . and you will agree, after comparison . . .
that constant adherence to the highest quality is worth far more than the slight difference in the cost of Occident Flour.

YOURS FOR THE ASKING . . .

We shall be glad to send you a variety of thoroughly tested bread, cake and pastry recipes.

WHAT WASHED WHEAT MEANS—
to you ~ and your bakingINSERT (upper left) shows
how wheat reaches the mill.INSERT (lower right) shows
same wheat after passing
through washing equipment.

MOST flour mills do not wash wheat before grinding it into flour. Some mills wash some of their wheat. In the Occident mills all wheat is washed . . . then scoured . . . before the milling process starts. This extra step not only means hygienic cleanliness . . . it also insures creamy whiteness in your bread. Occident is always exactly the same pure, wholesome flour. Constant testing in laboratory and bakery make it so.

You can use the same recipe throughout every day of the year with complete assurance of absolute excellence in your bread.

The finest wheat costs more than ordinary wheat . . . extra safeguards for finest quality also add to the cost of Occident Flour. But we know . . . and you will agree, after comparison . . . that constant adherence to the highest quality is worth far more than the slight difference in the cost of Occident Flour.

YOURS FOR THE ASKING . . .

We shall be glad to send you a variety of thoroughly tested bread, cake and pastry recipes. Address our Department of Home Economics.
